UWF FIELD SCHOOL 2015 RECAP AND
PLANS FOR 2016 FIELD SCHOOLS

Each year at the PAS March program UWF archaeologists offer results and conclusions from the previous summer’s UWF field schools’ excavations. During the fall semester, students in the archaeological lab methods class at UWF process select artifacts from the excavations. Often the students who excavated and recovered artifacts from the units, shovel tests and features get to do the identification, processing and analysis of these same artifacts. Other students who were not involved in field school get a chance to learn about one of the sites and do the same processing and analysis. During the spring semester each year, several students from the lab class are offered a part time job processing the remainder of the material that the lab class did not complete. This work is usually completed by the end of February and the information provides some of the basis for the March PAS program. Artifact processing is almost complete and the data is available for analysis.

This month these results will be presented by: Dr. Ramie Gougeon—campus survey including a Spanish mission and an early 20th century fish camp, Keyser (Late Creek) Homestead in Santa Rosa County, and a Civil War battle site in Natural Bridge State Park; Adrianne Sams Walker—Arcadia Mills Archaeological Site; 19th century site; Dr. John Worth—Spanish mission in Molino and an 18th century-19th century mill site at Spring Lake near Cantonment. In addition to the terrestrial sites recap, Dr. John Bratten will tell us about the underwater activities that took place last summer and their findings.

Along with the results of the 2015 activities, we will have information about the plans for the 2016 field schools. Plans include work at the 1559-1561 Luna settlement in downtown Pensacola as well as other locations on campus and elsewhere.

As usual the March meeting will be held at 7 PM at the Bowden Building, 120 Church Street in the Historic District. Please join us for the program and refreshments following. Bring a friend and enjoy the program.

EMANUEL POINT II SHIPWRECK UPDATE

UWF’s underwater archaeology team continues to work on the Emanuel Point II shipwreck site just east of the Pensacola Bay Bridge funded by a Special Category Grant from the Florida Bureau of Archaeological Research (BAR). We will get to see and hear the details about these excavations from Dr. Greg Cook at our bar-b-q in April (as well as info about the Luna settlement recently discovered). Recent work was reported in the February newsletter and although diving has continued, weather conditions have interrupted many diving days. Check out the web site for more about this excavation and the artifacts recovered.

UPDATE: ARCHAEOLOGICAL ACTIVITY AT THE 1559 LUNA LANDING SITE IN PENSACOLA!

Archaeological activities at the site of the Luna settlement are continuing. Small crews are working with neighborhood residents to conduct shovel test survey on their property. Luna period artifacts are still evident in many of the shovel tests. Native American sherds (Woodland and Mississippian Periods) are abundant and British period 18th century artifacts have been recovered primarily in one area.

Shovel testing will continue through the semester on lots that are high priority for investigation because of planned activities that will go below the surface of the land. Only small crews are available during the semester since many students are in classes on field days. There are plans underway for more work during the summer field season. The residents of the neighborhood are showing amazing support and interest in this exciting project.

Don’t forget to buy your own PAS t shirt that shows an image of some of the Luna expedition members including Aztec warriors from Mexico. T shirt sales with this design will continue through 2017. T shirts are available at meetings and other activities as well as at the UWF archaeology lab in building 13/room 302. All sizes are available from small through 2XL.
